LASONDE VERSUS COUPART

Petition of Lasonde, alleging that eight days ago he bought of one Coupart, cabinet maker of this city, a little sauvagesse, who was at the time supposedly suffering with a slight fever only. After a few days, the fever still persisting, purchaser had the child examined by Major Surgeons of this city, who said the fever was caused by blows administered her.

Plaintiff therefore prays that Coupart be ordered to take back the sauvagesse and return the merchandise (the purchase price of the sauvagesse).

DECISIONS IN THREE CIVIL SUITS

1. Raguet vs Dumanoir, defendant, shall satisfy stated claims under conditions duly prescribed, also furnish security.
2. Dumanoir vs Raphaël Dumanoir shall first turn his accounts with Raphaël, restore the detained trunk, allow Raphaël to change his service, and advance him 100 francs, all this pending final adjudication.
3. Raguet vs Dumanoir.
Judgment (a bad scrawl) appears to favor plaintiff.

CIVIL SUIT

De NOLAN

vs.

DURAND

(In RE: Slave)

Petitioner alleges that one Raimond, a tinker of Mobile, was unable to maintain some slaves he owned during the year 1722; that he ceded two to Sr. Carriere and a third, a negro child, who was suffering from a burned foot, to petitioner, after the child was cured Durand, Chief Clerk of the Company, swapped it for one of the Company's which they had acquired from the widow Saucie; this negro in turn was bitten by a snake. Sr. Mandeville wanted the said negro when he was cured, but Durand refused, saying it was Nolan's; that petitioner had expected to get some work out of the negroes, but Durand was ordered to take it back and give it to the widow Le Sueur.

He therefore prays for the return of the negro or some just compensation.

Petition of Marie, Cesille,

Petitioners allege that they are in necessitous circumstances; that they have been in New Orleans over a month; that they have tried in vain during that time to obtain a settlement of their father's succession; that there are in the hands of Sr. Duval, testamentary executor, certain sums of money, to which petitioners are entitled as privileged creditors under the dower clauses and other rights stipulated in the marriage contract between their father and mother.

YEAR 1724DECEMBER 30

vs.

DURAND

(In RE: Slave)

Answer of defendant showing cause why de Nolan should not be granted his prayer.

Defendant argues that there was no question of a bargain with plaintiff, nor could slaves be transferred without the consent of official authority, not here invoked. If Mr. De Nolan fed the slaves, he also had the benefit of their labor (lent him for putting up a forge). The medical report is challenged as false, since Vauthier who issued it, is not always ethical and Dame Parant made a statement in the presence of Mandeville and Raguet that she had nursed him for six months.

Mandeville never asked for this particular negro but on his return from Biloxy asked for some, etc.
